

Storytelling for Changemakers

"To speak a true word is to transform the world"

Paulo Freire

Are you exploring new ideas that can help move us towards a more just and compassionate world?

Do you want to learn how to communicate these ideas in a way that is powerful and authentic?

Join us for a weekend workshop exploring the power of stories to create positive social change.

Through games and exercises in a fun, supportive atmosphere you will learn:

- How to develop presence and authenticity
- How to shape your material so it holds the attention
- How to connect with your chosen audience
- How to tease out the key messages that can lead to action and transformation

Humans are storytelling beings

Stories shape our world. They help us make sense of events and allow us to communicate what matters. Stories are our 'meaning making' tools and as such they can be used to connect or divide us.

As changemakers we can harness the power of storytelling to shape a world that is just, compassionate and thriving. The more we develop our ability to speak authentically, the more we are able to transform each other in myriad ways.

"Now I finally understand what storytelling is about."

Joanna Flanagan

Everyone can learn how to tell a good story...

In this workshop we will explore the fundamentals of effective storytelling. We will learn how to 'paint pictures with words' and structure memorable narratives.

Using games and exercises we will develop our presence and spontaneity, become more expressive and - most importantly - enjoy the experience of being in front of an audience. It will be so much fun you won't realise you are learning!

Inez Aponte is a storyteller, facilitator and community organiser with twenty years experience running workshops for storytellers and changemakers from around the world.

She uses play and improvisation to create a safe learning environment that allows each person's natural storytelling persona to emerge. No previous experience necessary.
